Workshops: Creating an App for AssetLife

1
Our task was to simplify the leasing process for fixed assets, eliminating the complexity of managing multiple contracts.

2
We aimed to create a versatile configurator that could present a wide range of options and combinations for different business needs in a user-friendly manner.
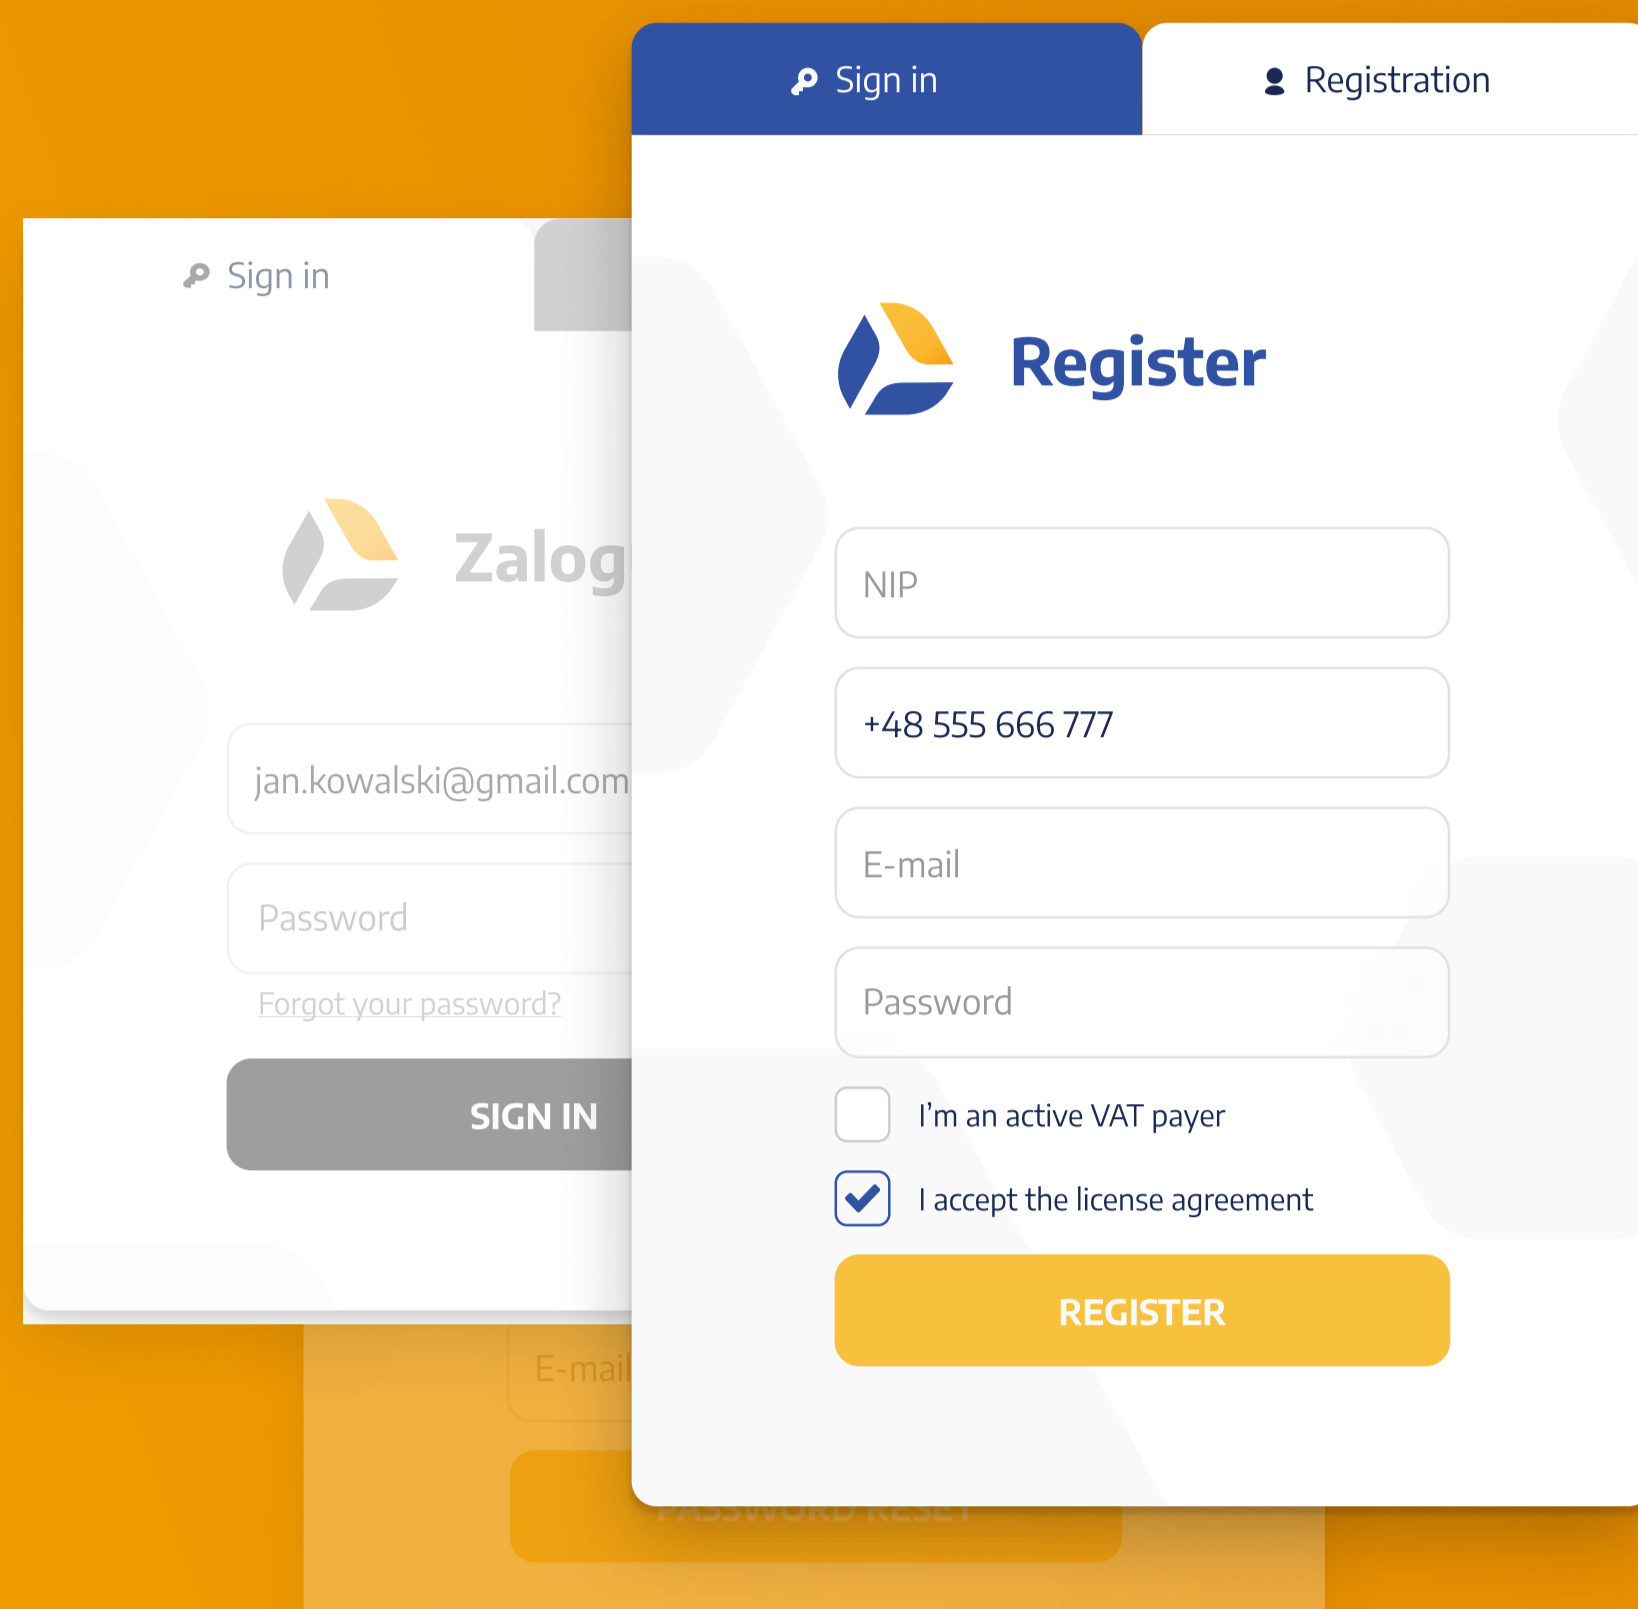

3
The challenge was to ensure that customized product variants would automatically adjust prices, addressing both technological and accessibility concerns.

Designs

The project began with the design phase, focusing on simplifying the leasing process for fixed assets, which often involves complex paperwork and multiple contracts.

The challenge was to create a user-friendly and accessible configurator that presents various options and combinations clearly on all devices.

Mockup

Design mockups were created to ensure a user-friendly and coherent interface, capable of accommodating diverse business needs.

Customers expect prices to automatically adjust based on customizations, a significant technological and accessibility challenge.
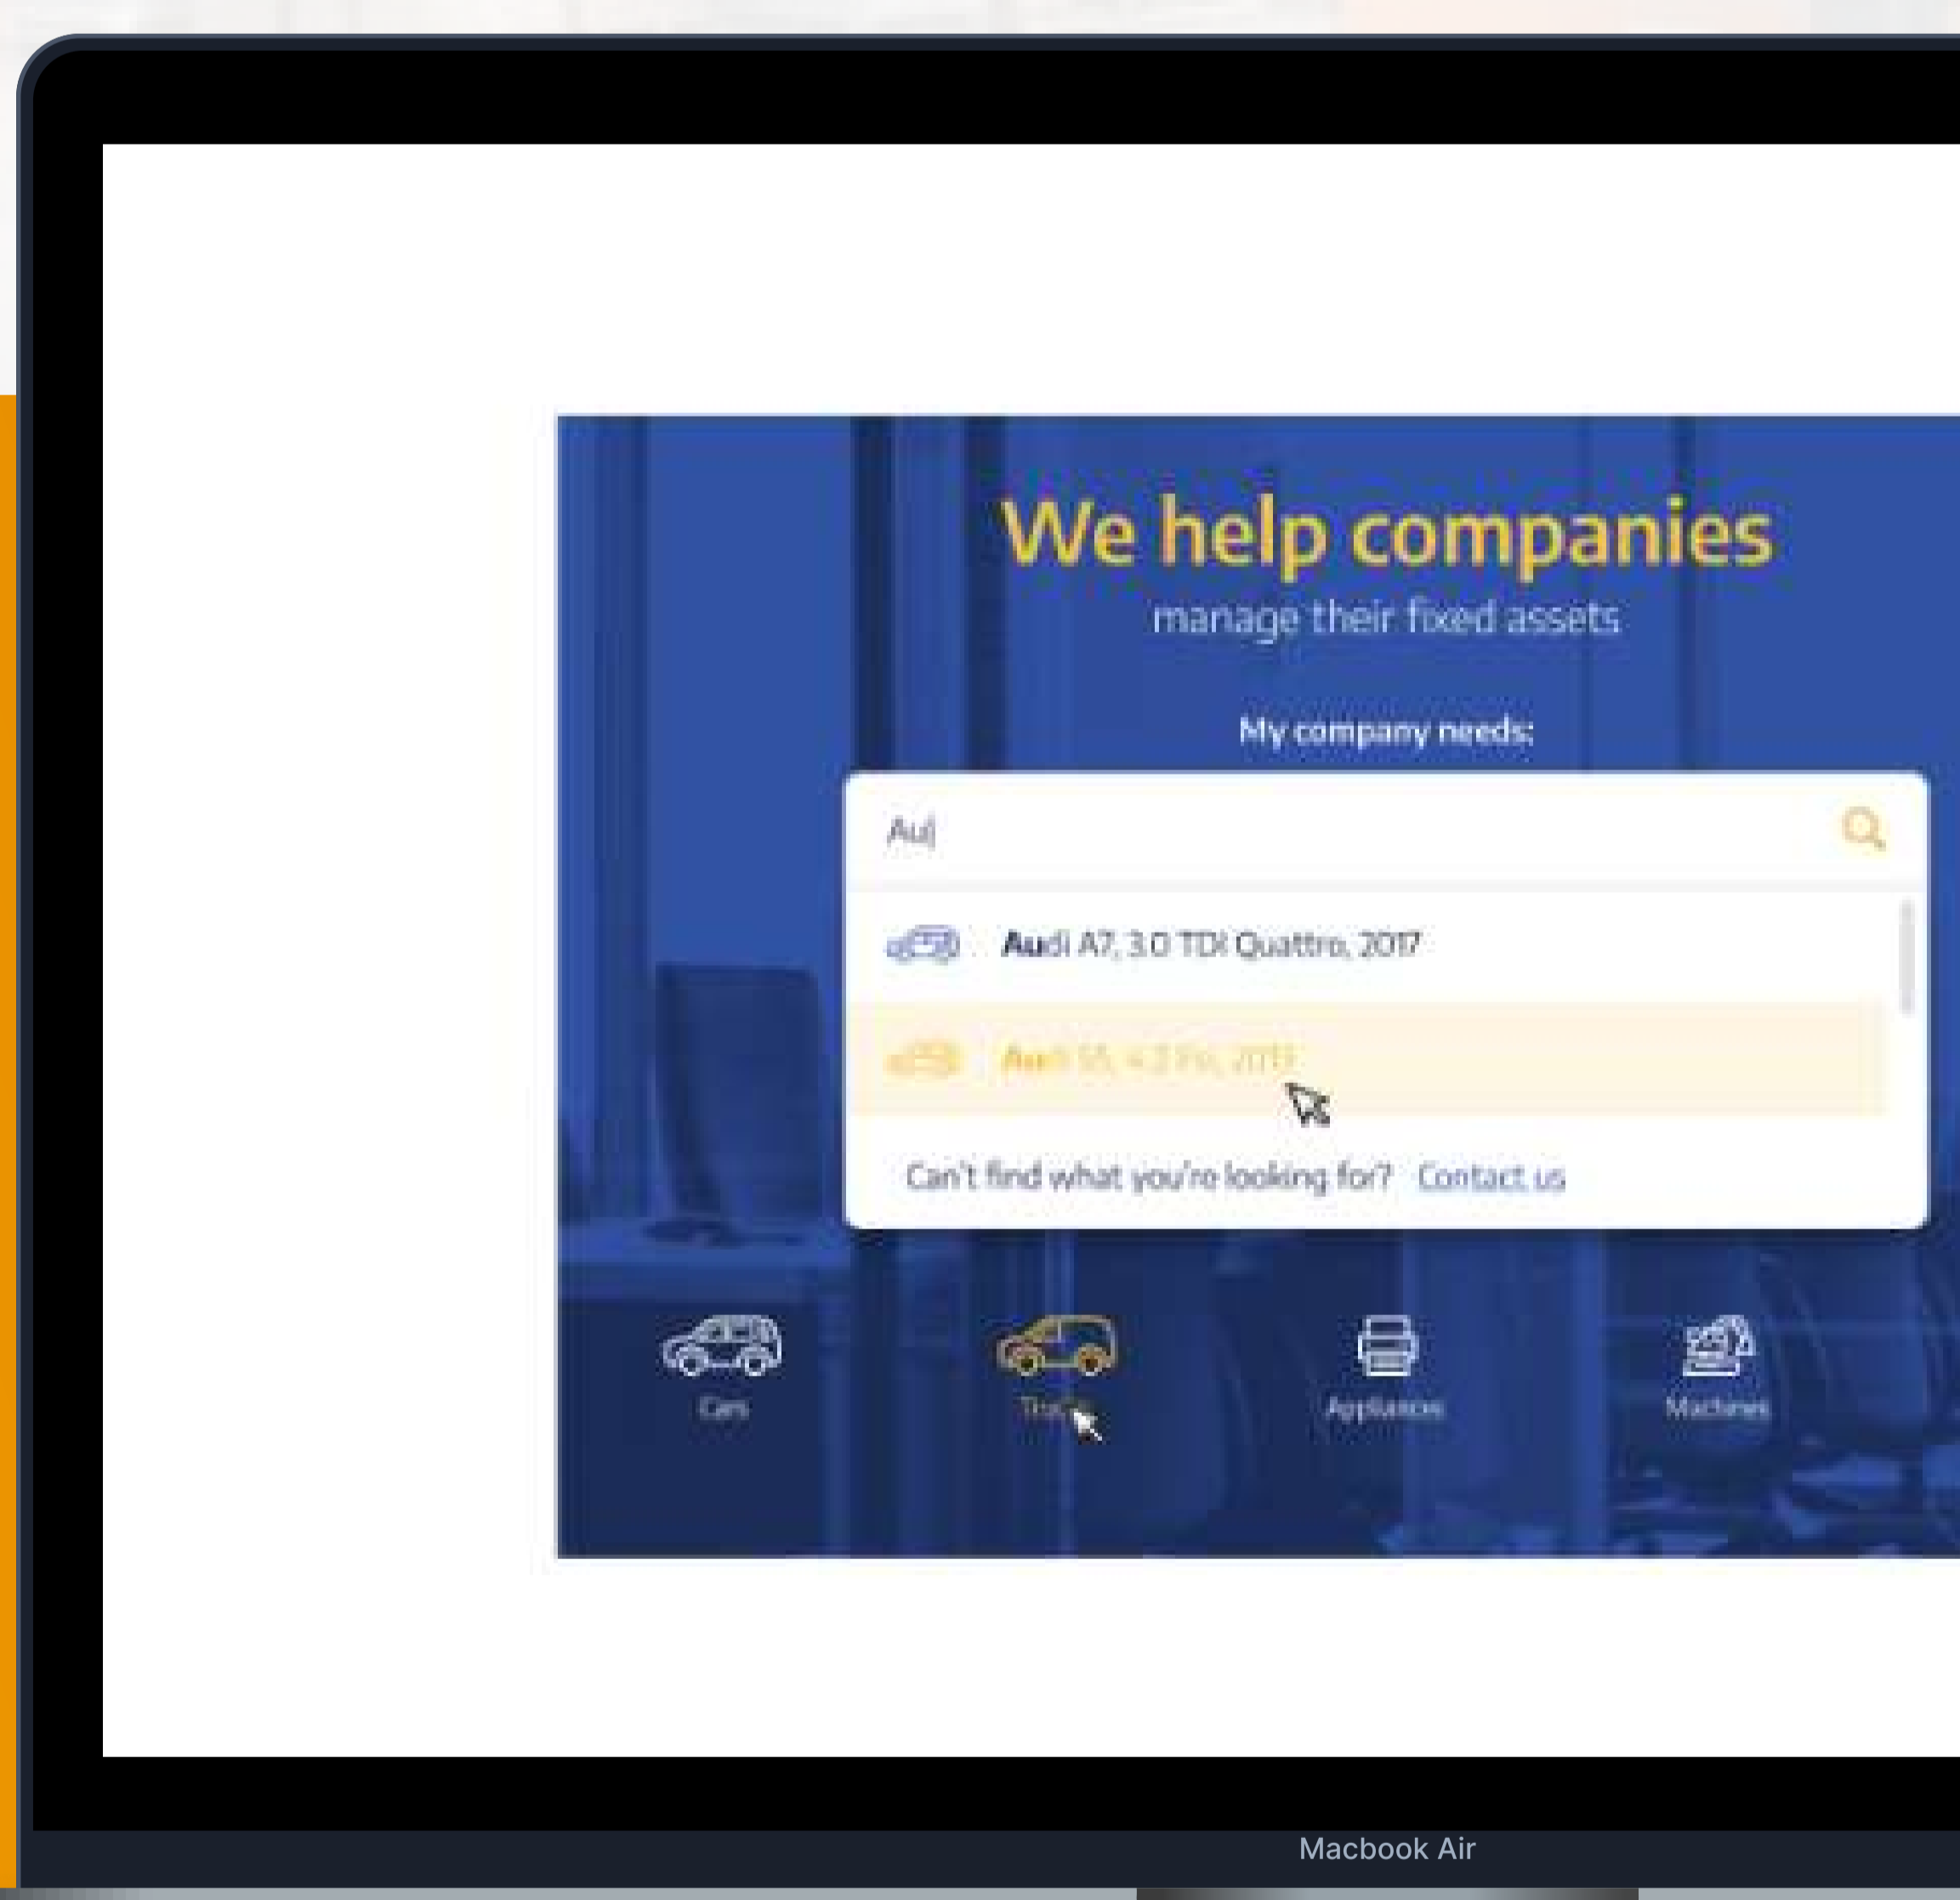

Testing

Extensive testing was conducted to ensure the configurator met accessibility and usability standards.

This phase aimed to optimize the user experience and provide accurate pricing information based on customizations.

Coding

During development, the system was coded using the 300DEVS Angular CDK, incorporating advanced control panels, application submissions, service templates, and asset filters. We integrated client financing parameters and adapted to changing legal regulations.
