

Lublin City of Inspiration

The Development of an App for Lublin- City of Inspiration

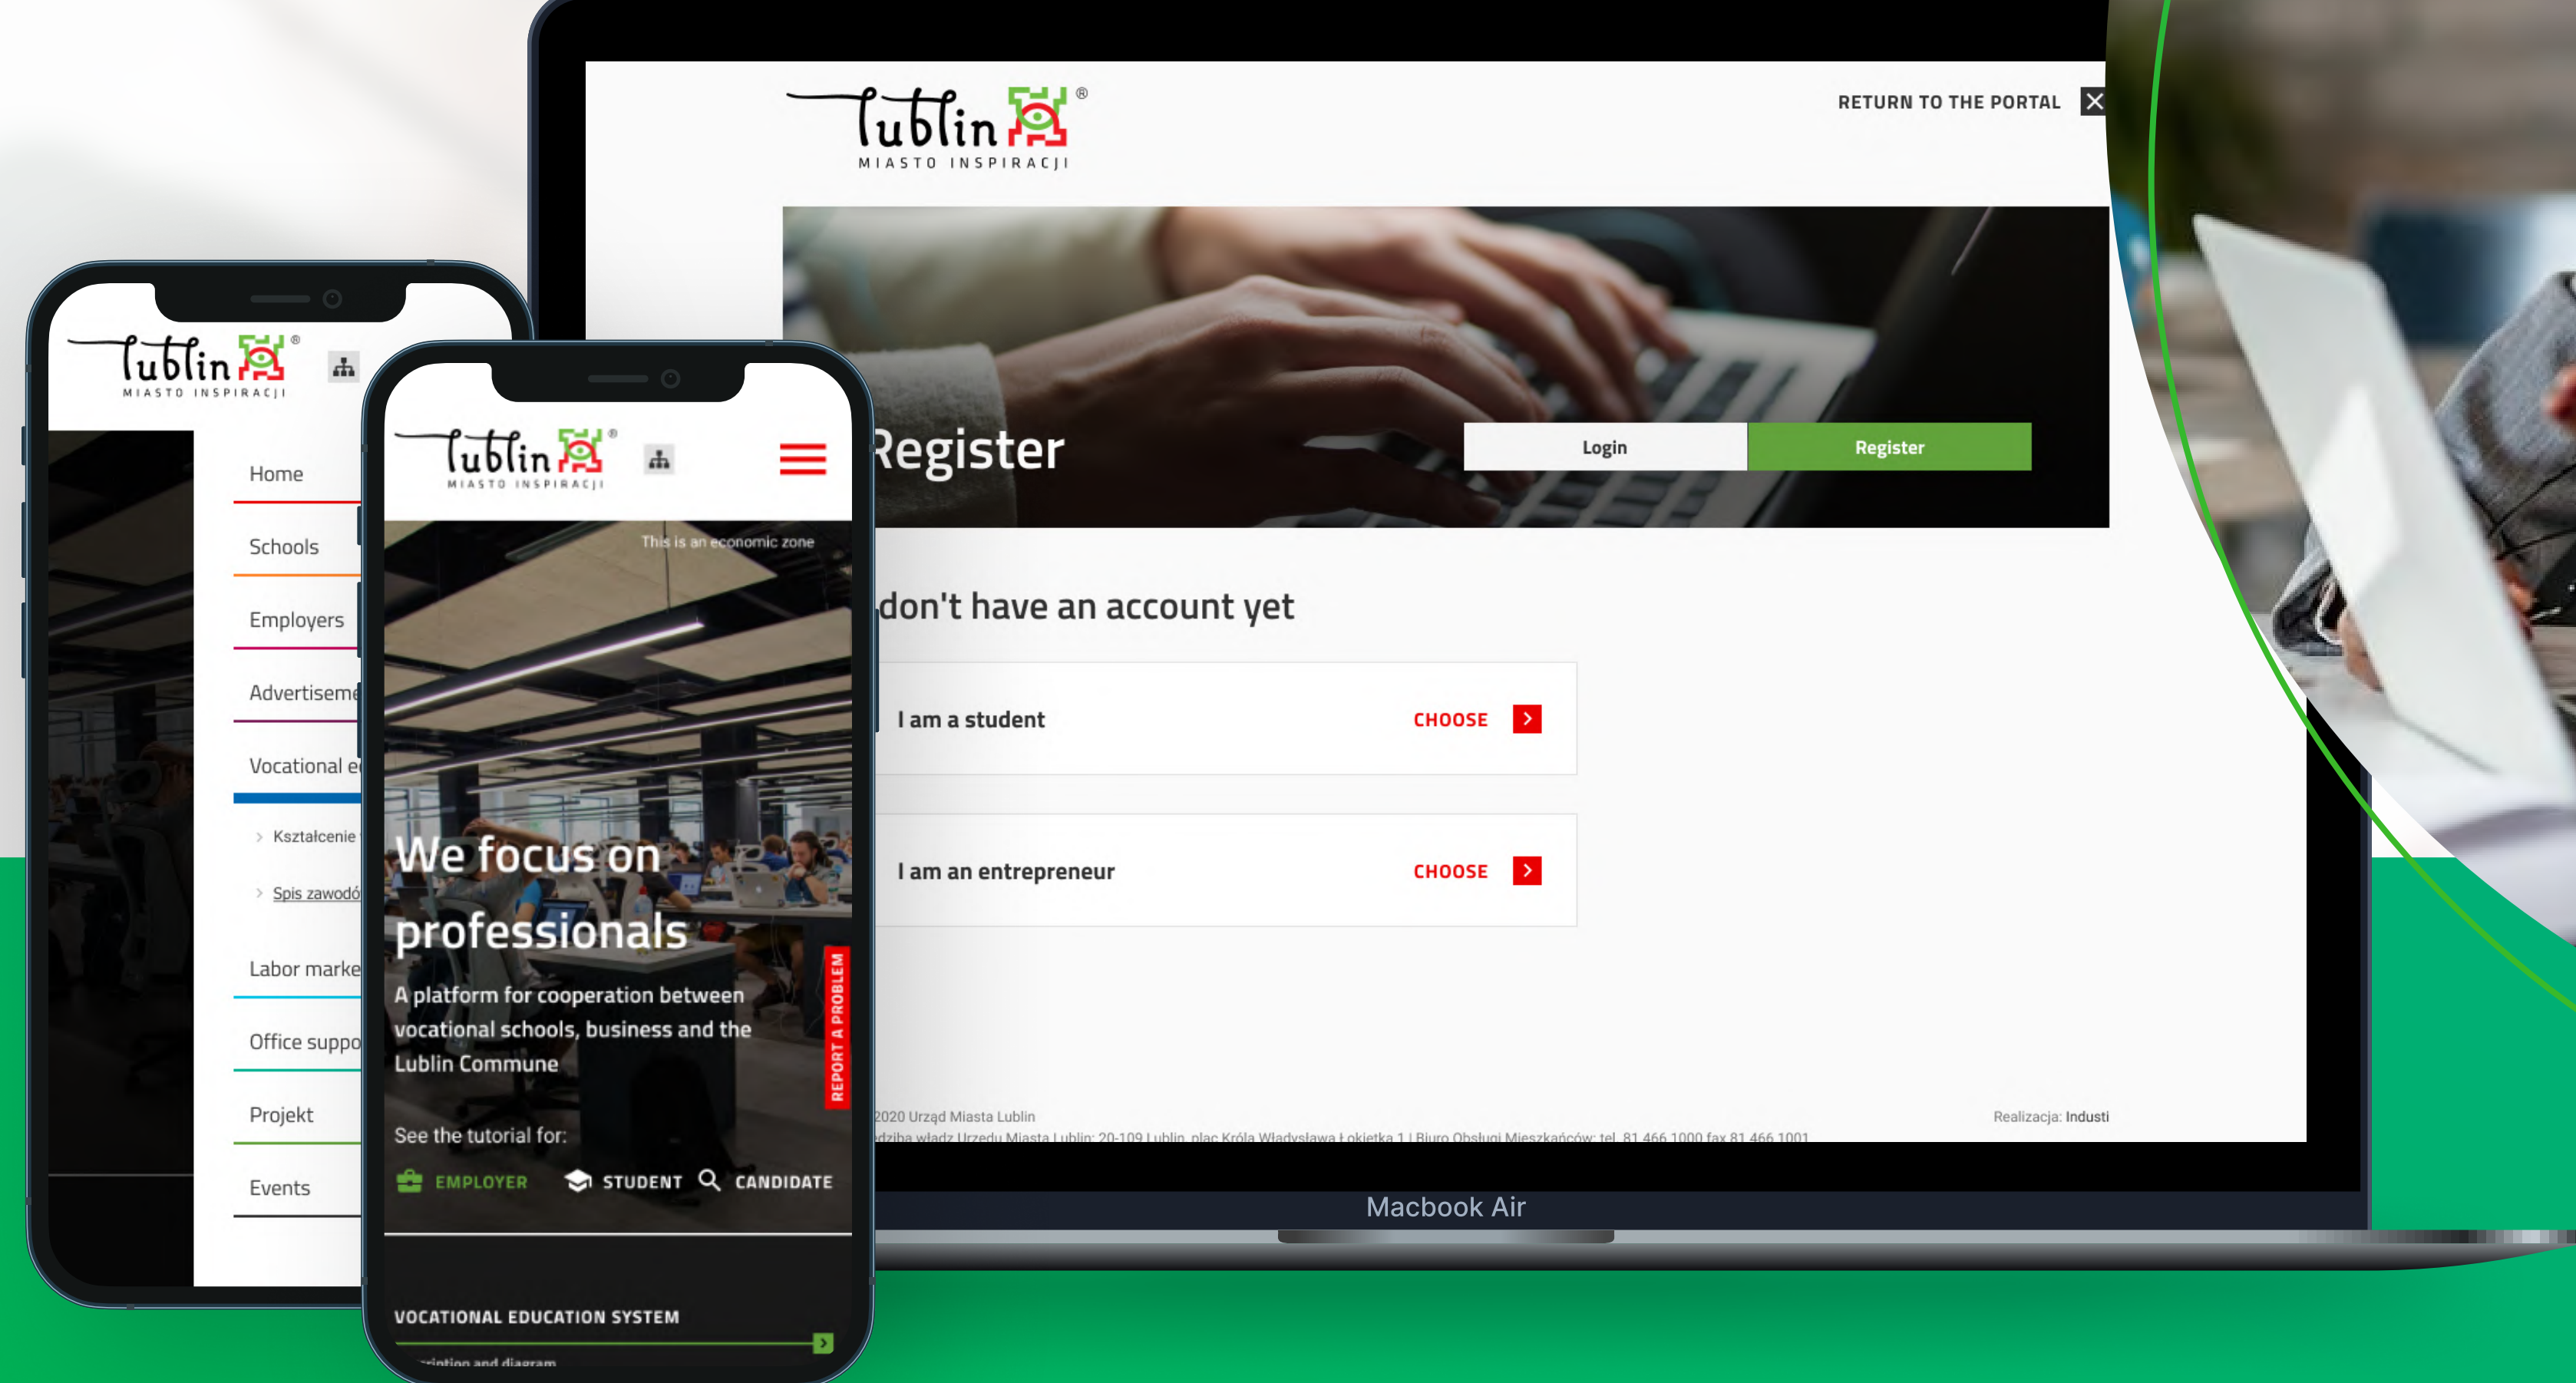

Workshops:

- 1 The cooperation platform serves as a bridge between students, employers, and schools, presenting Lublin's educational offerings while adhering to accessibility standards.
- 2 Users can collaborate effectively in various roles, from students and teachers to career advisors and facility directors.
- 3 The platform utilizes Google Material design patterns and the 300DEVS Angular CDK to create a user-friendly and highly functional interface.

Designs

The project commenced with the design phase, focusing on creating a fully responsive and accessible educational portal.

The design adhered to WCAG 2.1 AA accessibility standards, ensuring that the platform meets the highest usability and inclusivity requirements.

Mockup

Design mockups were developed to provide a clear and user-friendly interface for a diverse set of users, including students, teachers, employers, career advisors, and facility directors.

The design was based on Google Material design patterns, known for their usability and user familiarity.

Testing

The platform underwent thorough testing to guarantee its compliance with accessibility standards and its responsiveness, ensuring an optimal user experience across various devices.

Coding

In development, we harnessed the robust 300DEVS Angular CDK framework, aligned with Google Material design principles. This framework streamlined portal creation, ensuring full responsiveness and WCAG 2.1 AA accessibility compliance. Our coding process catered to the unique needs of students, teachers, employers, career advisors, and facility directors.

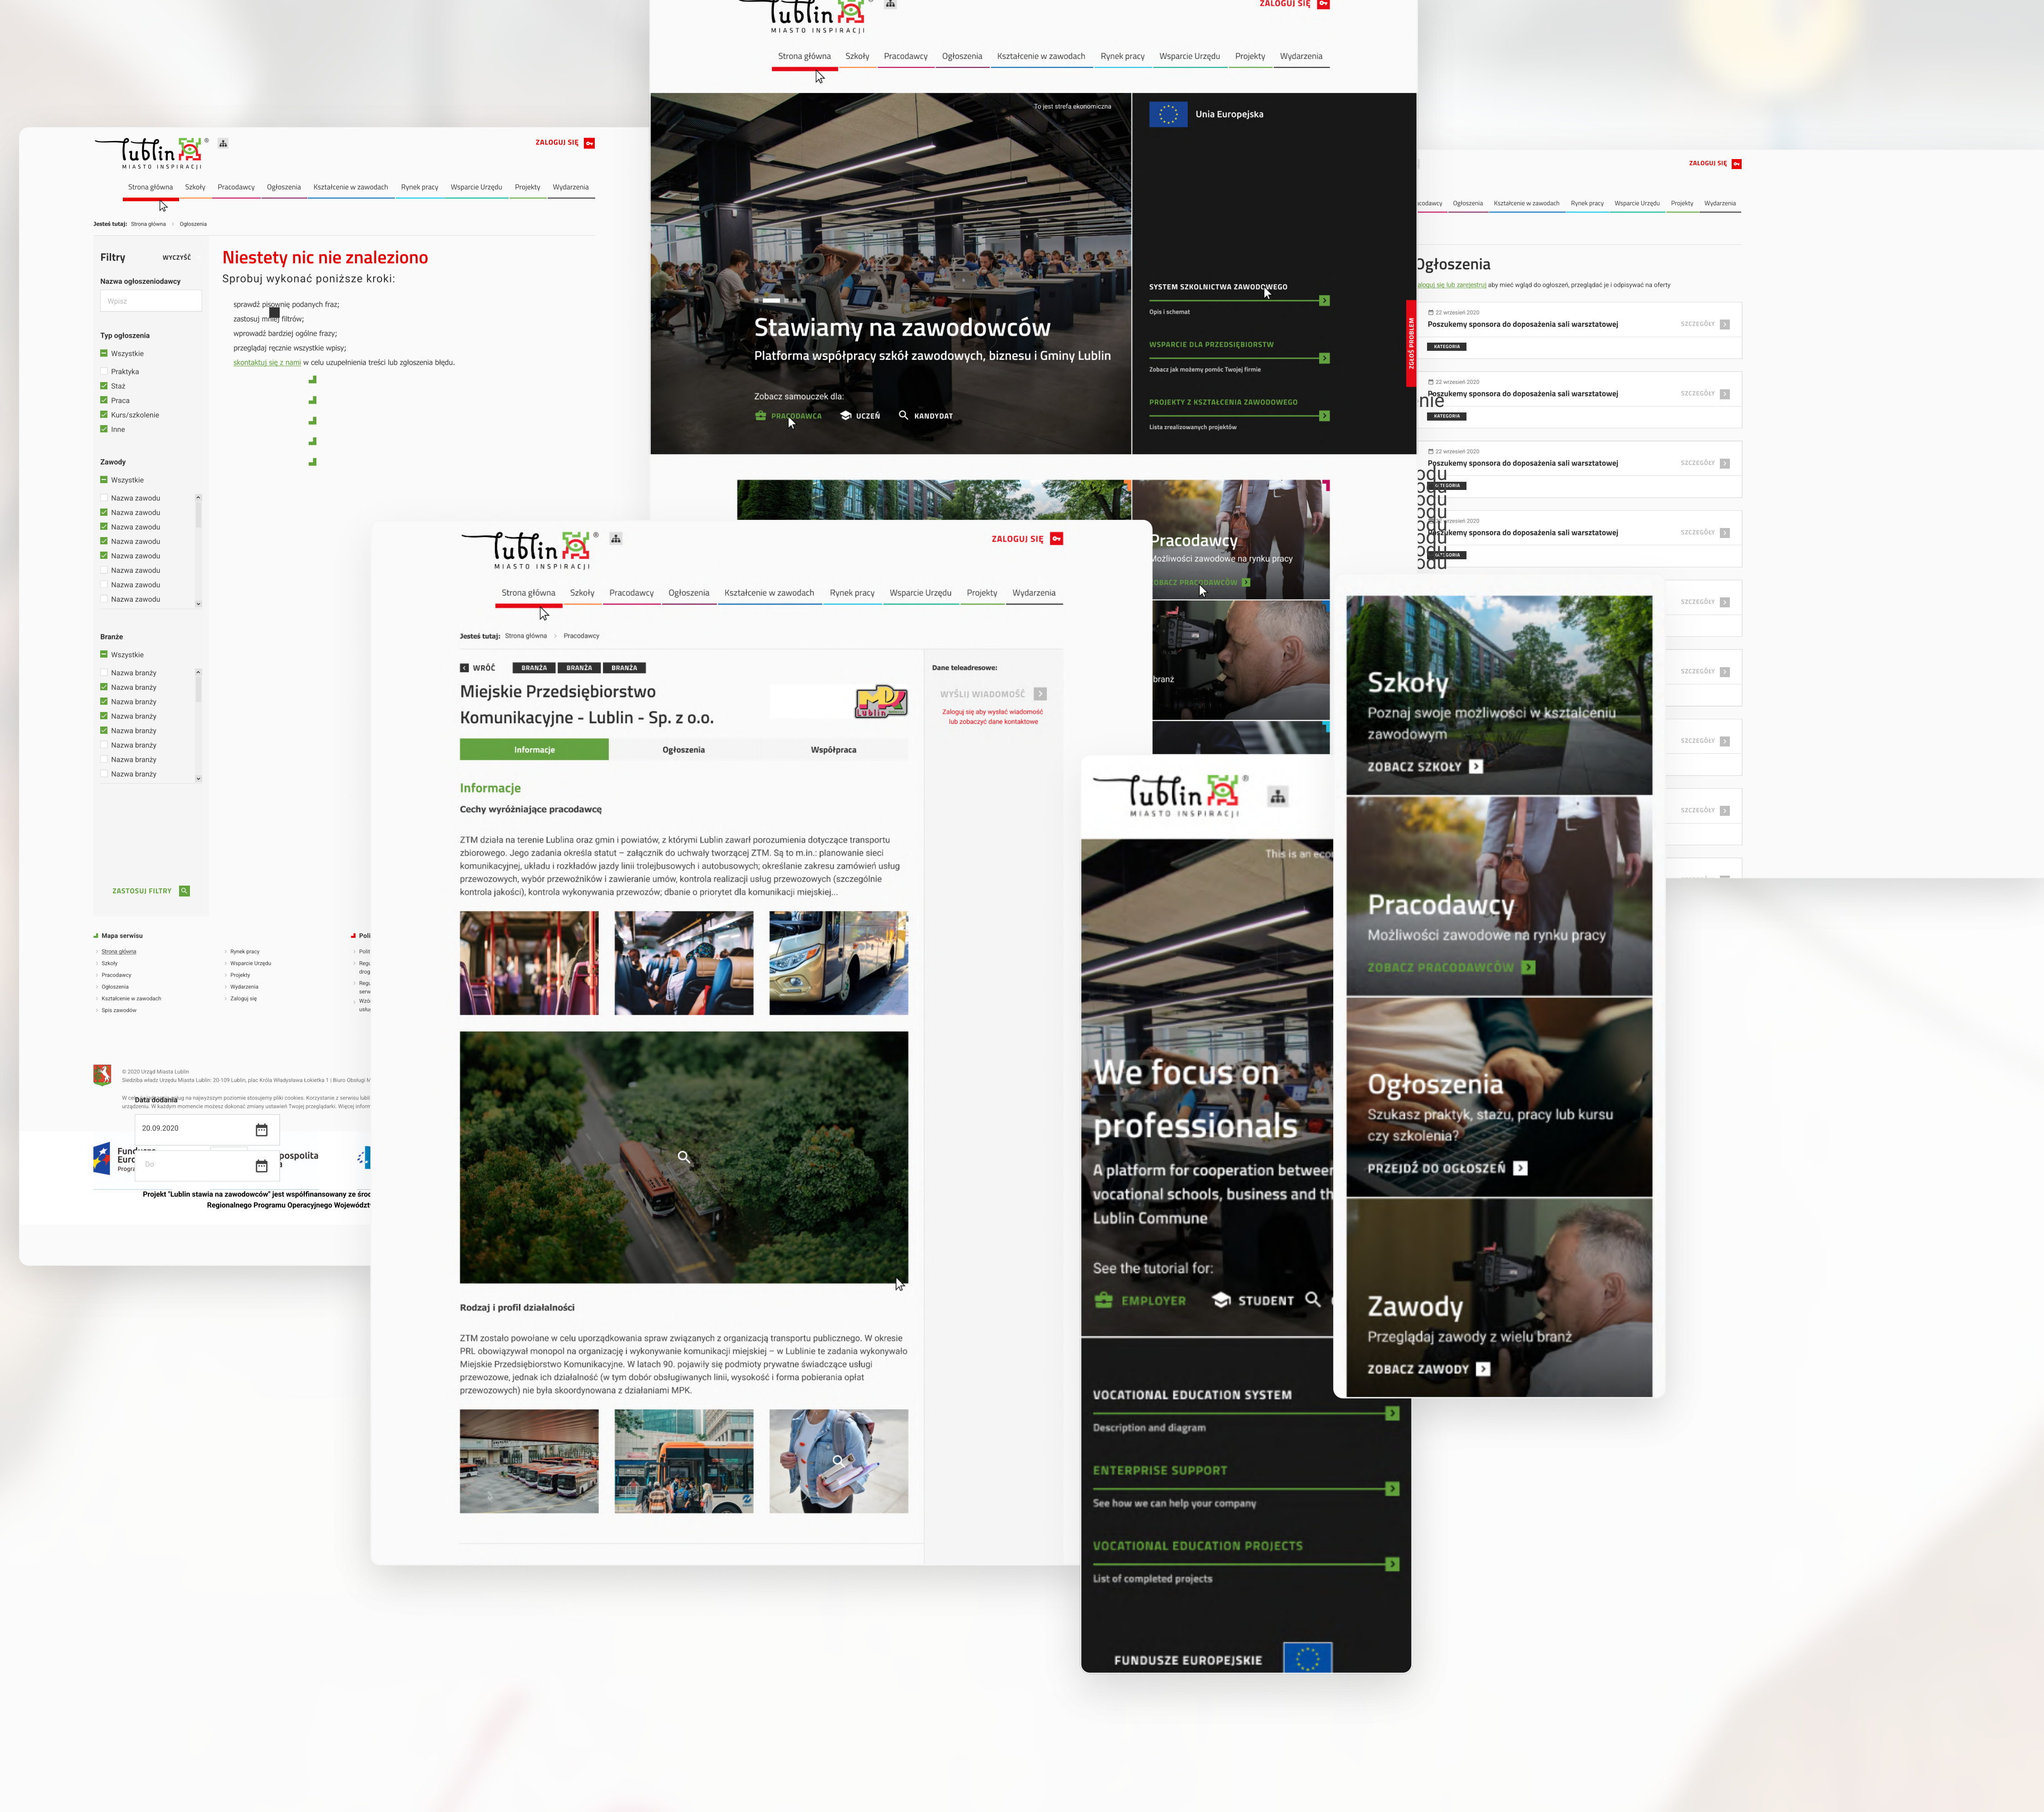

Results

The Cooperation platform is an inclusive educational portal connecting students, employers, and schools in Lublin.

It offers professional insights, practical labor market information, and tools for students to create CVs and find internships. This promotes collaboration among various educational stakeholders, ensuring accessibility and usability.
